REPUBLICAN LEADERS.

GATHERING OF THE STATE COMMITTEE.

A SHORT, HARMONIOUS SESSION IN PROSPECT—VIEWS OF SOME OF THE MEMBERS.

The Republican State Committee will meet at the Fifth Avenue Hotel at noon to-day for the purpose of issuing a call for the State Convention. Only a few of the thirty-two members were in the city last night, though several of them were at Coney Island. The death of Pierre C. VaniWyck, who retresented the Vth Congressional District of this city, leaves a vacancy on the committee. The reapportionment of the State into Congressional districts will make a number of changes in the committee after the next convention, and also add another member, making the committee consist of thirty-four in all. No action will be taken on that subject to-day, however. Resolutions of respect to the memory of Pierre C. Van Wyck, who was for many years a member of the committee, will be adopted, and a call for the convention issued, but it is not believed that any other business will be transacted. It is known that a few of the members of the committee expressed the opinion yesterday that the convention will be called to meet at Richfield Springs. The hotel-keepers of that place have made a strong effort to have the convention celled there, and have agreed to build a "wigwam" for the use of the committee, several of whom have pledged themselves to vote for Richfield Springs. It could not be learned yesterday that any effort had been made to influence the committee will be committee, several of whom have pledged themselves to vote for Richfield Springs said that in case the convention was not called there they would favor Saratoga. The memorynement hall at Suratoga is the only objection raised to that place, though one of the members of the committee said yesterday that he thought the convention ought to be held in a new place this year in order to call lose from the associations of the last canvass. He said that the people of Saratoga had promised on several occasions to build a Suratoga is the riverse of the committee said yeste

September.

There has been talk of reapportioning the State for delegates according to the vote of last year. Inquiry yesterday revealed the fact that the committee has no power to do so. A reapportionment of delegates was made in 1880, ou the basis of the vote for Governor in 1879, but it was afterward learned that the committee had made a mistake. At the convention held in Syracuse, July 8, 1868, it was decided that the apportionment should be made upon the Republican vote cast for President in 1868 and every four years after, on a basis of one delegate to each Assembly district, and one additional delegate for every 1,500 Republican votes or fractional part of 1,500 votes more than 750 poiled in such district. There was a reapportionment in 1881 on that basis, and there will be no change this year. The convention will coasist of 496 delegates, of which this city will furnish 79.

Some of the Democratic newspapers have been discussing an alleged scheme to have the four delegates-at-large from this State to the National Convention elected this year in order to save the necessity of calling a convention next spring. This plan was the subject of laughter by some members of the State Committee vesterday, from the fact that the regulations adopted by the National Committee require all delegates to be elected to the National Convention within sixty days of the time of holding that convention.

and that we shall have a harmonious and successful canvass."
James Low, of Niagara, said that he would favor Saratoga Springs as the place in which to hold the convention. "If Buffalo or Rochester is anxions for the convention." he said," "I will vote for either one of those places, but I do not know that there is any anxiety on that score. I am in favor of an early convention, and of renominating the present State officers. So far as I can judge there is entire harmony in the party in the western part of the State, and we shall roll up our old-time Republican majorities."

Coilector Robertson, who is a member of the committee, said:

"I think it quite probable that the convention will be held in Richfield Springs. I am in favor of calling it for about the 19th of September, but I have no particular choice. I know very little of the outlook in the State, but I regard it as promising.

John F. Smyth, of Albany, chairman of the committee, reached the city at 9 o'clock last evening from Saratoga. He said:

"I have no choice of place for holding the convention, but I favor holding it not later than the middle of September. There is an objection to Saratoga because of the smallness of the hall. Little has been said thus far about the of the hall. Little has been said thus far about the State ticket."

Senator Holmes, of Madison County, representing the XXIVth District, said:

"I ravor Lichfield Springs, of course, as the place for holding the convention. It is in my own district. September 12 would be a good date, as that will give plenty of time for holding the primaries and making preparations for the convention. The outlook for a good Republican majority in my district is bright. The party is once more united, and past differences are settled. I have heard little said about the State ticket, but what little sentiment has been expressed is in favor of renominating the present State officers."

W. J. Montanye, of Cortland County, representing the XXVth District, is hopeful of the prospects in his Assembly district, which was carried by the Democrats last fall because of Republican dissensions. "The course of the Democrats in the last Legislature." he said, "has disgusted the independent voters in my district. The seating of Thales S. Bliss, although the majority of the Assembly committee reported that Henry L. Sprague, his Republican opponent, was fairly, elected was a specimen of Democratic fair play, and as our representative voted to seat Mr. Bliss you can imagine that the Republicans who contributed toward his election and the temperance men are not well disposed to-

Mr. Bliss you can imagine that the Republicans who contributed toward his election and the temperance men are not well disposed toward him or the party he represents. The party is united now, and we will undoubtedly elect a Republican Assemblyman this fall. I prefer Syracuse as the place for holding the convention, as being more central and more convenient for the majority of delegates. Still I have no strong choice for any place. I think a short campaign in an off year the beat."

Chester S. Cole, representing the XXIXth District, said: "I favor a short campaign in an off year, and a long one in a Presidential year. For that reason I think a short campaign this year would be best. I have no strong choice for any place for holding the convention. In my district everything looks well for Republican success this fall."

Taliesen Evens, of Oneida County, representing the XXIIId. District, said: "I favor Richfield Springs as the place for holding the convention, and September 12 as the date. The party in my district is more united than it has been for a long time. Oneida County should be good for 1,500 Republican majority."

M. S. Stover, Amsterdam, representing the

I think September 12 would be a good time for holding the convention."

E. M. Johnson, of Oneonia, Otsego County, the former secretary of the Republican State Committee, said that matters looked well in his district. The bitter feeling between the rival factions of the Republican party had been allayed and both sides would work for a Republican victory.

T. R. Proctor, proprietor of the Spring House at Richfield Springs, was in the city last evening. He promised that there should be amble accommodations for the delegates to the convention and others.

The question of filling the vacancy caused by the death of Pierre C. Van Wyck was discussed last evening. It was the impression of most of the members present that the vacancy would be filled. John H. Brady, president of the Republican Association of the Vth Assembly District, was spoken of as likely to be chosen to fill the vacancy.

CHARGES AGAINST A NEWARK MERCHAN I A WARRANT ISSUED FOR HIS ARREST—THE STORY OF THE CRIME.

A warrant was issued by Police Justice Ricord, of Newark, yesterday for the airest of E. Orville Heaton, a commission merchant, on a charge of forgery of mercantile paper. The warrant was given to a detective, who started for Ocean Beach, where Mr.
Heaton has been staying with his family. The affidavit on which the warrant was issued was made by John D. Vermilyea, a commission dealer in Centre Market, Newark, and the specific charge in the affidavit is that Mr. Heaton passed upon him a note for $250 which purported to have been indorsed by William U. Jube, a member of the firm of John P. Jube & Co., carriage hardware,
No. 87 Bowery, New-York, Mr. Vermilyea stated that he heid altogether about $2,470 of forced paper given to him by Mr. Heaton for money loaned and indorsed either with the names of William U.
Jube or that of Heaton's father-in-law, William B.
Bradner, a wealthy fruit dealer in Newark. He had also a certained he said, that about $3,000 of paper of Mr. Heaton with the same indorsements was held by the Second National Bank of Newark.
Nearly two years ago Mr. Heaton, who was a com mission dealer m Centre Market, failed and among those to whom he owed money who a man named Pierson, whose claim was $100. A TrauBurn reporter was told by Mr. Vermilyea yesterday that Mr. Heaton gave Pierson a check for $250 in liquidation of this claim, and that Pierson asked his advice about it. As the note was indorsed with the name of William P.
Bradizer, whose financial standing was good, Mr.
Vermilyea cashed the note for Pierson, and it was paid before it matured. Some time afterward Mr.
Bradizer, whose financial standing was good, Mr.
Vermilyea cashed the note for Pierson, and it was paid before it matured. Some time afterward Mr.
Bradizer was indorsed with the name of William P.
Bradizer, whose financial standing was good, Mr.
Vermilyea called upon Mr. Vermilyea and requested a loan, offering a note indorsed by Willia

Mr. Heaton, who was not at Ocean Beach not his Plainfield home.

"I have not indorsed a note for Heaton in over a year," said William N. Jules, "and I have not seen the young man in that time. I regret that Mr. Vermilye or Cashier Orton did not send me word when they cashed the first notes, for I could have saved them trouble. Vermilye did not show me any notes bearing my name."

Samuel Johnson, a clerk of Mr. Downing, testified for the defence. He said that he had received one of the cheeks from Desmond, but had afterward returned the money. District-Attorney Downing said that he had received $100 for the purpose, as he understood, of paying some extraordinary expenses to which the prosecution had been put. SEALING A CONTRACT IN ARAB FASHION.

The Executive Committee of the Bartholdi Statue met yesterday at No. 171 Broadway and awarded the contract for furnishing and laying the concrete mass which is to be the foundation of the statue's pedestal to F. Hopkinson Smith & Co. Mr. Smith is well-known to the art world as a water-color artist, and he is also known to architects and contractors as the layer of the concrete foundation for the Race Rock Light-house—the largest mass of concrete ever laid in this country. Its dimensions, however, will be far exceeded by those of the monstrous mass required for the foundation of the Colossus. Mr. Smith's bid was $3.94 per cubic foot, without the cement, which will be supplied by the engineer-in-chief, General Stone.

The contract was signed and sealed at 4 p. m. by General Stone and Mr. Smith. The latter scaled with red scaling-wax in the ordinary mode, but General Stone said he would scal in the Arab way. His official scal as Pacha was highly moistened with ink, so as to fill the incised Arab characters only, leaving the surface clear. Then a small spot of the paper near his signature was moistened, and the scal was pressed upon it, leaving an imprint of his title and name in Arabic.

ONE MAN'S PRESENCE OF MIND.

A crowd of people were upon the ferry bridge at the landing at New-Brighton, S. I., on Sunday afternoon, when Edgar Brown, a dock-hand, tried to lower it. The extra weight of the people caused the wheel to fly from his grasp, one of the spokes struck him in the face, tearing away part of his check and a piece of his upper jaw, and another spoke of the swiftly revolving wheel broke Brown's shoulder bone. Although almost unconscious, the the injured man reached over and dropped the ratchet piu into the cog that holds the wheel in place, thereby checking the fall of the bridge, after which he fell back insensible. Had it not been for Brown's bravery and presence of mind, a large number of people would have been thrown into the Kill Von Kull at a place where the tide runs at the rate of five miles an hour.

REASONS WHICH LED TO THE ADOPHON OF THE METHODS COMPLAINED OF.

Morris Friedsam, District Collector of Internal Revenue, who was formerly a member of the Board of Excise Commissioners, yesterday wrote a letterto Mayor Edson regarding the alleged defects in the management of the Department of Excise. Following are portions of the letter:

When my late colleagues and myself assumed the dinice of Commissioners of Excise, some three years since, we found the system of book keeping in vocate in the office to be insufficient for the prevention of depted, which was acknowledged, but very creditable to the counts to be excised, but very creditable to the amount received from licenses was larrely increased, this increase amounting to over $150,000 in one year. At the same time the Board adopted, and the province of the counts of the Board, who gave the opinion that the counts of the Board, who gave the opinion that the Commissioners of Excise, was by them referred to the counts of the Board, who gave the opinion that the Commissioners had no right to ante-date a Beenes, as by a design they leave the counts of the Board. PUNISHED-THE LOSER'S EXCUSE.

A prize-fight at Daybrakak—Both and Skyrkell Punished—The Loser's excuse.

A prize-fight was fought at an early hour vesterday morning in the rear of "Harry" Hill's sporting resort at Flushiuz, L. I. The combatants were John Dempsey, of Brooklyn, and John Boylan, of this civy. The light was fought according to the new rules of the London prize ring and was for $250 a side. Dempsey was seconded by "Jack" Davis (who came over with Mace) and "Joe" Denning, and nis umpire was "Andy" Hanly. Thomas McAlpine and "Jimmy" Murray were Boylan's seconds and "Alec" Magnire was his mapire. "Jem" Mace was timekeeper, "Billy" O'Brien was referee. A party of twenty well-known "sporting" men left the city at 2 o'clock in the merining in six carriages and drove to Flushing, having been joined on the way by a similar party from Brooklyn. Denpsey is twenty-two years of age, stands hive feet eight and a half inches in height and weighs 151 pounds. Boylan is twenty-three years of age, stands five feet six and a half inches in height and weighs 410 pounds. For the past two weeks John Hamley has been training Dempsey near Blissville, while Thomas McAlpine had trained Boylan at Stryker's Bay, near Eighty-seventh-st. East Kiver. Both puglists were in good condition.

Bay, near Eighty-seventh-s. East River. Both purilists were in good condition.

A twenty-four foot ring was pitched in the back-yard of "Harry" Hill's premises, contrary to the expectations of many, who, in anticipation of the fight taking place in the bail-room, had purchased tickets for admission at $2 a head. O'Brien quickly cleared the ring and the fight began. Twenty-three rounds were fought in twenty-six minutes, and when time was called for the twenty-fourth round Dempsey just had sufficient strength to crawl to the centre of the ring, while Boylan was stretched out in his corner in an almost senseless condition. He refused to come to the "scratch" and Dempsey was declared the winner.

Boylan was seen last night by a Tribune reporter, and apart from a few bruises on his head, which he received in his numerous falls, and a cut on his

He said that his defeat was owing to the wiesting skill of Dempsey, who succeeded in throwing him heavily to the ground about a dezen times, each time failing advortly upon his prostrate fee. This, Boylan says, winded him, and he thinks that he can winp Dempsey in a square figot according to Marquis of Queensberry tules. It was said by others that Boylan could have defeated Dempsey if he had possessed sufficient nerve, but that he was void of plack. Dempsey was severely punished and much cut about the face.

VIOLATING THE LOTTERY LAWS.

VIOLATING THE LOTTERY LAWS.

Detective Sergeants McNaught and Cush saw two men leave the policy-shop of John Shipsey, at No. 52½ Bowery, yesterday afternoon, and walk to Canal-st, and the Bowery, where they met a number of men who handed them envelopes, which they took back to the office. Later in the day the operation was repeated, and the men were arrested. In their possession were found a number of envelopes bearing the printed name "S. C. Ball, General Manager, 419 Walnut-st., Philadelphia." They contained manifold copies of the slips sold at the minor offices during the day, and two lottery slips from the Louisiana and Havana State lotteries, besides small sums of money. The men were arraigned in the Jefferson Market Police Court, where they gave their names as Morris Sampter and William Harris, and said that they were cierks employed in the office. They were each held in $500 bail.

Christina Diebach, of No. 751 Ninth-ave., was held in $500 bail in the Yorkville Police Court, charged with violating the lottery law. She was arrested by Detective Reilly, of the Twenty-second Precinct, who stated that he found on her premises a bundle of memorandum of numbers used in policy, and also a number of manifold books used in the game.

PREPARING TO RUN THE BRIDGE CARS.

Chief Engineer Paine was busy yesterday at the New-York Bridge Station solving the problem of switching the care. He said that the trial trips had been very satisfactory, and the griping attachment had worked so well that duplicates were being made for all the cars. The cars will be switched at the Brooklyn terminus by engines and at the New-York end by a small cable that is worked back and forth by an attachment to the large wheels over which the main cable runs. A small car is fastened to the small cable and it can be coupled to the regular cars. They will then be drawn up on the switch and will roll down from the force of gravity upon the other track. The splicing of the small cable was satisfactorily completed yesterday. A heavier wheel has been placed at the New-York can in place of one thought too light for the strain of the cable. It will probably be several days before trial trips of cars around the circuit will be made. All the arrangements will be carefully tested before the public is allowed to ride. Woodruff, Robinson & Co.'s 'longshoremen are still on strike, and standing about the Brooklyn wharves waiting for signs of yielding on the part of their employers. A dozen Germans and Italians from New-York were set to work yesterday morning, and were not molested. The strikers seemed content to let the "greenborns" do the work if they could, serenely conscious, however, that they could not. One of the firm said that business was slack, and they could get along without the strikers, as there steady men have not left them. These receive a regular weekly salary of $15. Two arrests of strikers were made, John Collins, aget wenty-six, of No. 168 Partition.st., and Patrick Ryan, age thirty-two, of No. 14 Nelson-st., for assaulting Stephen Bray, who was returning from work at Merchants' Stores. They, were held for examination by Justice Walsh.

Michael Culty was found wandering around the streets of Philadelphia on Monday by Detective Fox, of that city, and was last night brought to New-York by his father. The boy lives with his parents at No. 22 West-st., and is employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company as a messenger-boy. He says that while going to work early Monday maring he was mel by a man in West-st. boy. He says that while going to work early alonday morning he was met by a man in West-st., near Liberty, who persuaded him to cross the Central Railroad Ferry and go with him on a freight train to Philadelphia. On their arrival at Philadelphia the man deserted him. Search is being made for the man who persuaded young Culty to leave his home.

SINKING FUND SECURITIES FOUND INTACT.
The committee of financiers appointed by Mayor Edson to make an examination of the securities held in the sinking fund for the redemption of the city debt yesterday made their report to the Mayor.
They state that they were shown the bonds and found that they amounted to $33,523,838 58, all standing in the name of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. They were also shown the certificate of the City Chamberlain showing a balance of cash on hand to the credit of the sinking fund redemption on July 31, 1883, amounting to $957,790 20. These two sams, aggregating $36,481,598 78, agree with the amount reported in the Controller's statement dated August 2, 1883, as of July 31, 1883. The report is signed by all the members of the examining committee.

MEETING OF THE STATE COUNCIL OF AMERICAN MECHANICS.

The State Council of the United Order of American Mechanics met yesterday at No. 117 West Twenty-third-si. G. H. Burton, State Councillor, presided over the meeting. Norman Waterbury, of Council No. 4, was elected State Councillor; Joseph Knex, of No. 9, State Vice-Councillor; G. H. Burton, of No. 23, State Council Secretary; and John L. Decker, of No. 4. Representative to the National Council. There were 120 delegates present, representing nuncty-seven councils. The reports from senting ninety-seven councils. The reports from the different councils showed large gains in memthe different councils showed large gains in mem-bership and that the order generally is in a good fluancial condition. The order is not composed of mechanics. The only requisite for membership is American birth. It is of a purely beneficial char-acter and takes no part in partisan politics.

BROOKLYN.

It was reported about the City Hall yesterday that another blow for Ireland had been struck, by the burning, in effigy, of James McDermott, in Parkaye, on Monday night. The figure bore a placard on its breast with the words: "McDermott the Traiter." Traitor.

Traitor."

James Donohue was before Justice Bergen yesterday morning, charged by Michael Dee, of No. 185 Clifton-place, with maybem. Dee stated that he was walking with his wife in Prospect Park the night before, when Donohue insuited his wife. A figut followed, and the men were separated, only after Donohue had bitten a large piece out of Dee's lower ip. The hearing of the case was adjourned until Thursday.

until Thursday.

When Officer Marks saw George Touniey, of No. 118 John-st., at Bridge-st. and Myrtie-ave. yesterday with his pockets bulging out he suspected something wrong and arrested the man. A dozen handkerchiels, twenty-seven dozen buttons and ten yards of ruffling were found in his pockets, which he had stolen from Zadok Bernard's store at No. 271 Myrtie-ave. Doorman Patrick F. O'Mears, of the Eleventh Pre-Doorman Patrick F. O'Mears, of the Eloventh Pre-cinct Station-house, was arrested in the Third sub-precinct for drunkenness on Monday night, and locked up in a cell. Yesterday he was find $1 by Justice Walsh. Sergeant Kellett, commanding the sub-precinct, has preferred charges against him before Commissioner Jourdan.

Thomas Callahan was too drunk to protect Maggie Coghlau, of Cypress Hills, on Monday at midnight, and five men assaulted her at the foot of South Fifth-st. Her screams brought three officers to the spot, and they arrested Thomas Foley and James Dowd, of No. 29 South Fifth-st. Three others escaped by jumping into the water and swimming away.

A meeting of State Assessors G. L. Williams, of Dutchess, S. N. Wood, of Cattaraugus, and J. D. Ellis, of Jefferson County, and the Mayor, was held in the Supervisors' office yesterday to hear arguments on the equalization of the taxable values in Kings County in relation to State taxation. Presi-Kings County, in relation to State taxation. President Truslow, of the Board of City Works, said that Kings County had for years been unfairly dealt with, the disposition being to favor the rural districts at the expense of the two great cities New-York and Brooklyn. New-York and Kings Counties, he said pay over 56 per cent of the entire State tax, while their population is only 35 per cent. After considerable argument the State Assessors examined the tax rolls of the assessors of the five county towns and of the city.

NEW-JERSEY.

NEW-JERSEY.

Kearny.—An elderly woman, whose name could not be ascertained, was struck by a locomotive on the New-York and Greenwood Lake Railroad about 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and both her legs were cut off. She was placed on the train, with the intention of taking her to a hospital in Jersey City, but she died before reaching there, and the body was removed to Speer's Morgue. The woman was apparently sixty years old, and she wore a calico dress and a green-striped apron. Before she was struck the engineer saw her with her legs lying across the track, and tried to stop the train, but without success.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY. NEW-ROCHELLE.—William Henry Cox. colored, was yesterday committed to the County Jail for an assault upon two girls.

JERSEY CITY.

Two alleged burglars were arraigned in the First District Police Court yesterday morning. The first was Joseph Price, a well-known thief, who was captured by Officer Perry about 3 o'clock yesterday with ten gallons of gin and a quantity of cigars and tobacco in his possession, the proceeds of a burglary at Maria McGimpsey's rumshop, No. S9 York-st. The other was Wilham H. Sears, of Middletown, N. Y., who was captured at 4 o'clock yesterday morning in Samuel Oren's rumshop in Newark-ave. Price was committed for trial and Sears was remanded for further examination. STATEN ISLAND, CLIFTON.—Oliver Freidenberg yesterday went into the hold of the ferry-boat Southfield to inspect the gas tank. A few minutes later James Vreeland heard Freidenberg cry for help, and when he went into the hold he found Freidenberg lying on his back unconscious. He had been overcome by the gas, but on being taken to a drug store he was resuscitated.

STAPLETON.-Robert T. Bradford yesterday re ceived a letter from a Cleveland lawyer requesting him to forward the family bible and all the papers in his possession relating to the Bradford estate in England, said to amount to many millions of dollars.

LONG ISLAND.

FLUSHING.—The tax-roll of the town this year will foot up over $5,000,000, showing a gain over last year of over $100,000.

JAMAICA.—Workmen began yesterday to grade the land recently purchased by the Long Island Railroad Company at Berlin for the erection of the machine and car shops, which are to be removed from Long Island City in the fall..... The late crops in Queens and Suffolk Countres are beginning to suffer from the drouth, and unless rain soon falls late cabbage and turnips will be a light crop. Cauliflowers are already being shipped from Suffolk County to the New-York and Boston markets, the crop being a month ahead of any previous season.

GLEN COVE.—John J. Sands, age thirty-five, a cripple, was assaulted by two unknown men on Monday night while walking along the road near the steamboat landing. After he was beaten to insensibility his assailants robbed him of his watch and money. Sands's skull was fractured and fears are entertained for his recovery.

MERRICE.—The camp-meeting opened at the grounds of the Long Island Camp-Meeting Association yesterday with anniversary exercises by the Sunday-school children of the town of Hempstead. A number of families are already upon the ground. Long Island City.—District-Attorney Downing having received from the Governor ordersato abate the bone-boiling and other nuisances on Newtown Creek, has instructed the Sheriff of Queens County to serve the necessary legal notices upon the owners of the offensive establishments. If the nuisances are not abated at once arrests will be made.

POLITICS AND THE PULPIT. POLITICS AND THE PULPIT.

POLITICS AND THE PULPIT.

From The New-Bedford Mercury.

A Baphist church in East Dedham has accepted a donation of a lot of land for a parsonage on conditions imposed by the donor that the minister must not preach "Cresarism, politics, Garfieldism, or glorification or denunciation of any living or dead person, nothing but the pure scriptural facts or 'Crist and Him crucified." Some persons who had contributed money toward building a parsonage sensibly objected to trying up their donation by any such restriction, and the giver of the land said that he would make good any subscriptions which were lost for this reason.

It is easy to look forward a dozen years and see how sick that church will be of its bargain. In the first place, no preacher with any respect for his manhood or his calling can submit to any such restriction on what he must say as these conditions impose. It tickles the ears of a great many thoughtless people to say that a minister shouldn't preach politics, but if he means to tell his people the truth he can't preach "Christ and Him crucified" long in these days without running athwart the current of politics. And if the preacher is a true man, with a particle of girl in him, he will not hesitate to say his say when a vital question of National honor is submitted to the people's decision. His station as a preacher cannot absolve him from a duty which every one will agree would rest upon him were he in any other vocation. Whatever "Casarism " or "Garfieldism" may be, we are unable to say. Persaps Christ Himself was guilty of preaching the foruer, when he said: "Hender unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's." But then he didn't have a pas sonage to live in.

But the caurch, when it finds a pastor, will also find itself civen up to hunting for heresies in his sermons, the will be far more of a diplomatist than most preachers if he can keep his discourses clear from all expressions which could be considered as trenching on the forbidden subjects. Like the boy who throws stones at the street lanterns est preacher of thrist that ever lived, reason carnestly with his congregation of "righteousness, temperance, and a judgment to come," he would be sure of raising the ire of some sensitive soul, who would not be at a loss for arguments to show that he had violated all the conditions by which he held his pulpit. The church cannot fail to be doomed to no end of internal trouble artising from the attempt to muzzle its preacher.

The tact is, while the primary purpose and chief mission of the Church is spiritual, it cannot ignore the everyday current of human life, and be successful. This donor of an acre of land wants nothing preached—in the most literal sense—except "Christ and Him crucitted." But Christ Himself never preached any such doctrine, and what is more He never practised it. His greatest sermon was full of every-day life—of maxims which were directly applicable to the commonest duties of his hearers. The pulpit of to-day can have no better model.

THE ASTRONOMER OF BOSTON COMMON. From The Boston Herald.

"Did you come to see the spots on the sun? Well, I can show you what they are, but the large spots are gone." The telescope man stood by the side of his instrument as he had stood on most pleasant days for eight years past, with no need and no desire for vacation or change. A pleasant-faced man of fifty years rather small in stature, but with a well-nourished and healthy body, neatly attired in a seasonable suit of white linen and straw hat, he stands a good exponent of mental and physical comfort.

small in stature, but with a well-neuristic and straw hat, he stands a good exponent of mental and physical comfort.

"I suppose many classes and varieties of people take a peop through your glass?"

"All classes and all varieties. Dr. Holmes and other noted men often call upon me, and I have some very good friends among the best professional gentlemen in the city. Students in large number use my telescope, and you would be surprised to see the mechanics and other workingmen that stop here for a moment or two morning and night, soing to or coming from their work. Children are often held up by their parents to look into the glass. I make a point of taking ne money for children. I consider the telescope one of our best educators, and I am very glad to do what I canfor the school children of Boston. I wish I could do more for them. I think the schools need to devote more attention to this branch of education. I intend some day to have upon Boston Common a glass much more improved than this, one that will be a credit to the city and that will show much more than I can with this."

Such a man is Mr. T. Mackenzie Axe, the telescope man. Having never married, he boards in comfortable bachelor quarters in Bradford-place, near the Boston Theatre, so near his place of "business" that he could almost throw a stone from his standing spot to his front windows. Though perhaps not a real philosopher (who can tell 1), he surely has the real philosopher's regard for the laws of bodily health—east temperately, drinks intoxicating liquors not at all, and, except when he has an innocent appointment with the moon on Boston Common, goes to his comfortable bed at 9 o'clock, and no doubt sleeps the calin sleep of the honest man healthfully weary with the day of honest labor. Every morning when the sun shines, and the c'in does not rise much earlier than he, he shoulders his long-barrelled telescope and carries it tenderly to his post of duty, for telescopes must be handled with as great care as infants, and a fall or severe jar might in almost every ditch.

From The Detroit Free Press.

For five long hours, as the boat finished her loading at Vicksburg, the first mate kept up a monotonloading at vicesourg, we show that you doing? Out of out if that gangway, nigger? Pass along? Pass along? Up that gang plank? H! there, nigger? And for five long hours the second mate stood at the boat end of the gang-plank and sing out to the long, dark line carrying sacks of cotton seed meat:

"Cross over—down this side? Cross over—down this side? Come along, nigger—down this side? Oh! there, Ephratin, cross over?

side! Come along nigger—down this side! Oh! there, Epiratus, cross over!
And for five mortal hours a sort of third mate was stationed in the starboard gangway, and he drawled out:
"Out o' that gangway, nigger! Walk light up. Charles Henry! G'way from that water-pail, you black rascal! Out o' that gangway, scorpions! Bring along them sacks, you niggers!"
And for five never-unding hours another mate of some sort gravitated between the warehouse and the boat, and kept shouting:
"Now, you niggers, pass along! Now, you niggers, pass along! You, there, Abraham, pass along! You, there, Abraham, pass along! Pass along! All you niggers, pass along! Pass along! All you niggers, pass along!"
After the steamer pulled out I went down among the crow and saked one of them why it was that such proceedings were deemed necessary while loading or unloading.
"Waal, boss,"he answered, as he finished swallowing a pint of river water, "dey say dat a boat once ren a down dis ribber wid a captain who didn't drink, who didn't sw'ar, an' a crew dat worked like cate fidn't need no orders. She loaded hean fur Orleans got dar', an' she took on a load fur up ribber and but her bilers at Natchez 'an' killed ebery soul aboard, spects de ole way am de safest way."

"But don't vou know enough to shoulder a sack a bring it aboard!"

"Sartin."

"And can't you do it without being called a secretor.
